Presenter

Cody Davis is Associate Technical Director, Distribution and Grid Modernization, at Electric Power Engineers. A power systems engineer, he focuses on distribution system planning and integration of distributed energy resources (DERs) on the distribution system. He works with a wide variety of utilities and stakeholders on complex regulatory issues and has authored reports and testimony filed in several states on smart inverter impacts and modernization of distribution planning and operations. Previously, he served as an engineer at Ameren Illinois in the DER Integration & Strategies and Regional Engineering departments.
